The Twelve

Full series drop on ITVX on Thursday 16th February

ITVX

Sam Neill stars in this courtroom drama about 12 ordinary Australians who are picked for jury duty in a murder case that is both traumatising and controversial.

Behind the facade of anonymity, these 12 ordinary people bring with them their own histories, lives that are as complex as the trial and full of fractured dreams, shameful secrets, hope, fears, personal trauma and prejudice. Through the multiple lenses of these jurors, audiences will see the fragility and imbalances of the law and the chaotic and flawed way in which we attempt to determine justice in our society.

This gripping limited series also stars Marta Dusseldorp and Kate Mulvany.

Six Nations: Ireland v France
Saturday, 1.25pm
11th February
ITV1

Jill Douglas is joined by Brian O’Driscoll, Rory Best, and George Gregan for coverage of Ireland’s Six Nations match against 2022’s Grand Slam side France.

France had to hold off a spirited fightback from Ireland in Paris in 2022, but this time sees a battle between the top two ranked sides in the world - game commentary from the Aviva Stadium is supplied by Miles Harrison, Gordon D’Arcy, and Benjamin Kayser.

Celebrity Catchphrase
Saturday, 6pm
11th February
ITV1

Stephen Mulhern invites another three famous faces to ‘say what they see’ and guess some well-known phrases from the picture clues in a bid to win £50,000.

Sally Dynevor, Barney Walsh, and Zoe Williams all think that they have what it takes to make it through to the Super Catchphrase and win that money for their chosen charities, but only one of them can succeed. Which celebrity will emerge triumphant?

The Masked Singer
Saturday, 7pm
11th February
ITV1

It's time for the Semi Final of the fourth series of The Masked Singer, but only three of the five remaining Masked Singers will be heading through to the Final.

Special guest Peter Crouch joins host Joel Dommett and regular celebrity panellists Rita Ora, Jonathan Ross, Davina McCall and Mo Gilligan as the acts perform once more to avoid being unmasked. Which surprising famous faces will fall at the final hurdle?

The BRIT Awards 2023
Saturday, 8.30pm
11th February
ITV1

Mo Gilligan hops over from The Masked Singer to The O2 Arena in London as our host for the 43rd edition of the award show recognising the hottest music talent.

In addition to the usual unexpected surprises, there'll also be performances from some of the biggest superstars in music today, including Harry Styles, Lizzo, Stormzy, Sam Smith and Kim Petras, Wet Leg, and David Guetta with Ella Henderson and Becky Hill.

Six Nations: England v Italy
Sunday, 2.15pm
12th February
ITV1

Mark Pougatch is joined by Sir Clive Woodward, Jonny Wilkinson, and Lawrence Dallaglio as Steve Borthwick's rejuvenated England side face Italy at Twickenham.

Old hands Owen Farrell, Jamie George and Maro Itoje will feature alongside exciting new talents like Ollie Hassell-Collins and Ollie Chessum as England aim to find a World Cup-winning side, but they will face an Italy side who beat Wales and Australia in 2022.

Dancing on Ice
Sunday, 6.25pm
12th February
ITV1

The Greatest Show on Ice continues in the capable hands of hosts Phillip Schofield and Holly Willoughby, this time featuring performances inspired by music icons.

The remaining celebrities and their professional partners will be hoping to strike the right note with ice panellists Jayne Torvill, Christopher Dean, Ashley Banjo and Oti Mabuse, but two pairs must face the Skate Off, and one pair won't return for an encore.

Vera
Sunday, 8pm
12th February
ITV1

Brenda Blethyn returns as DCI Vera Stanhope in the latest episode of the popular crime drama series featuring characters created by the noted writer Ann Cleeves.

This edition of the programme sees Vera investigating the death of a brilliant young policeman, but if she is to succeed in nabbing the copper's killer, she will need to delve deep into both sides of the thin blue line to do so. Who stood to gain from the murder?

NFL Super Bowl LVII Live
Sunday, 10.45pm
12th February
ITV1

After a 16-year absence from ITV, the glitz and glamour of American football's most prestigious event returns with Super Bowl 57 from the State Farm Stadium.

Two-time Super Bowl winner Osi Umenyiora joins former NFL defensive back Jason Bell and host Laura Woods as Jalen Hurts' Philadelphia Eagles host Patrick Mahomes' Kansas City Chiefs - and this year's half-time show performance comes from Rihanna.

Maternal
Monday, 9pm
13th February
ITV1

Motherhood throws everything at Catherine as she fights Jack for the consultant job in this episode of the medical drama about post-pandemic frontline medicine.

It's the day of the consultant interviews and Elis is ill, but can Catherine still find what she needs to prove that she's the best candidate for the job? Elsewhere, Maryam goes into a tailspin, and Helen faces a big decision when confronted with a huge dilemma.

Bradley and Barney Walsh:
Breaking Dad
Tuesday, 9pm
14th February
ITV1

The Walshes' epic Latin America road trip concludes in this edition of the adventure series with a trip to Panama, where a tall order lies in wait for Bradley...

Brad isn't pleased when he learns that Barney has arranged for them to tackle window cleaning of one of Panama's famous skyscrapers, but will he still give it a go anyway? The duo also meet some local indigenous tribes and a Grammy-winning jazz musician.

The Family Pile
Tuesday, 9.30pm
14th February
ITV1

Yvette's son Raymond arrives to claim what's his in the comedy-drama about four sisters dealing with one of life's big milestones - selling their late parents' house.

However, if Raymond thought that it would be easy to make his claim, a jealous Gaynor soon proves that he is wrong... meanwhile, Nicole is horrified when Connor finds her old school reports, and Ursula makes a huge decision that changes the whole family.

Next Level Chef
Wednesday, 9pm
15th February
ITV1

Gordon Ramsay and fellow culinary superstars Paul Ainsworth and Nyasha Arrington oversee Fusion Week in this edition of the heated cooking competition.

Only seven chefs remain in the competition, and this time it's all about fusion cooking and handling the cuisines of two different countries... but there's a twist as the chefs won't know which countries' cuisines they're working with until the platform arrives!

Cold Case Forensics:
The Murder of Stephen Lawrence
Thursday, 9pm
16th February
ITV1

Leading forensic scientist Dr Angela Gallop and her team unlock the forensic secrets of another unsolved murder in the compelling crime documentary series.

This edition of the programme looks at the racist murder of Stephen Lawrence in 1993, a case which remained unbroken for a decade until Angela and her team were brought in to re-examine the evidence. How did they finally bring Stephen's killers to justice?

Hotel Portofino
Friday, 9pm
17th February
ITV1

Natascha McElhone stars in the luscious historical drama series following Bella Ainsworth, who has set up a hotel on the Italian Riviera in the Roaring Twenties.

As the younger inhabitants of the hotel find some innovative ways to let their hair down, Cecil and Jack shake hands on a shady deal for the sale of the Ainsworth family heirloom... but the agreement seems destined not to meet with everyone's approval.

Love Island
Sunday-Friday, 9pm
Love Island: Unseen Bits
Saturday, 9pm
Love Island: Aftersun
Sunday, 10pm
11th-17th February

Maya Jama and Iain Stirling are on hand to guide us through another week of romantic rivalry and cautious coupling in the nation's hottest destination for love.

We've reached week five, and while the heat on the island keeps building, could some of the love matches be at risk of failing? As always, there's a chance for viewers to have their say on Love Island: Aftersun, and Iain Stirling has all of the Unseen Bits too.
